State, Land and Democracy in Southern Africa

Edited by Arrigo Pallotti and Corrado Tornimbeni, both at the University of Bologna, Italy

CONTEMPORARY AFRICAN POLITICS

'All the contributions to this timely book on the politics of land in Southern Africa are country-studies, but the collection is not a survey. Rather each chapter analyses a specific problem in historical depth. With the guidance of a reflective introduction by Mario Zamponi, this strategy helps the reader to understand sometimes neglected aspects of Southern Africa's agrarian questions.'

Bridget O'Laughlin, Institute of Social and Economic Studies (IESE), Mozambique

In this volume leading European, American and African scholars explore in detail the relationship between state, land and democracy in southern African states. They examine the historical background of asset allocation and its impact on questions of nationality, the definition of citizenship, human rights and the current political and economic processes in southern Africa.
